Manager James H. O'Rourke this morning officially announced the make-up of his team for the season of 1909 which will include William Kerr, J. W. McAlor, R. W. Jameson, Charles Ackerman and Al La Vigne, catchers; Art. Homer, A. J. McCarthy, Fred Gibbs, Ed. Nolte, Earl Powell and C. E. Pollard, pitchers; Martin J. Phelan and William A. Teehan, first basemen; John McKenna and Dave Bourquin, second basemen; Frank Hill, shortstop; Theodore Miller, third base; Alfred Brooks, left field; A. C. Ladd, center field; and Albert Doucette, right field.

The team this season will begin to take on the name of Giants as all the men are mostly six footers or over. O'Rourke has a love for big men and will be ably seconded by the fans of the city. Manager O'Rourke has all the confidence in the world in his team. In 1904, he carried off the pennant. Here's a recap of his team's record. In 1904, he carried off the pennant. Here's a recap of his team's record. In 1904, he carried off the pennant. Here's a recap of his team's record.

Of the old team, A. C. Ladd is with the new team and will cavort in center field. He seems to improve with age. Last season he was first in all of his years of Connecticut league baseball. He had 230 hits, an average of .280, while his fielding average was .853. Though some of his games were rather erratic he more than made up for it by his consistent plays which would bring credit to more seasoned players. The Northampton management offered O'Rourke to exchange the player with Ed. Nolte, a catcher, and Murphy. They were thrown back for a loss as Hill is rated as a corner. Marty Phelan promises to be the star of the season from the start and does not intend to be headed by the other players. Phelan was under the weather last season and was unable to play. He is off from his form of 1907. Ted Miller will be with us again this season, and will be welcomed by the fans, some of whom went out to get him last season. Miller started late in the season with the team when the attendance was low, but he was a good pitcher. He made good right off putting finger into the outfit, but it was too late as the team was too far behind to catch up. This player will bear watching. A third baseman that can bat for .300 is worth having around.

Two of last year's pitchers will be with us again, Earl Powell and Ed. Nolte. Powell was a team that finished in sixth place won 18 out of 36 games, pitching 100 innings. He has a good record. Most of his games were lost by one or two runs and generally were not due to his pitching, but to errors behind him. The manager considered the hard luck pitcher of the outfit, holding a team to a few hits in the first few innings and then taking a million bases from the pitcher. He was too late. His work last year under those conditions warranted a more sufficient try out.

Bill Kerr is the only left over catcher. He has come along wonderfully for a youngster, and in the opinion of the wise ones he is due for faster coming. He is a learner and can be purely make good. Of the new men Al Doucette looks up the strongest of the bunch. Doucette hails from Charlestown, N. H. He is a hard hitter. The Athletics had enough men at the beginning of the season and turned Bourquin over to the Orators. He played from the Western league, where he made a record that soon attracted the attention of the scouts. Slapper Sam, first getting his books in working order. He will be a valuable addition to the team, but he will have to go to get his swing. O'Rourke has picked up a few more players from the Eastern league, the home of ball players. Brooks is a splendid all-around player coming to this city with more recommendations, perhaps than any young man entering professional baseball. Brooks has been offered large inducements to go with other teams, but Bridgeport under the leadership of O'Rourke was recommended to him as the place to get the training that he would need to make a finished ball player. He is a fine batter and a deer on the bases.

A. J. McCarthy, a native of Harrisburg, Pa., height six feet two inches, is an old Eastern League pitcher who played with the Toronto team with Bill Vane in 1908. McCarthy made a remarkable record that year with a losing team but had to give up play for the season. He is a fine pitcher and the place to get the training that he would need to make a finished ball player. He is a fine batter and a deer on the bases.

Another big fellow to sign up with the team is Earl Powell, brother of Bill Powell of the Springfield club. Earl comes under the recommendation of "Brother Bill." He has had experience in the Western league. He is as good as "Brother Bill," the fans of this city will have cause to rejoice. C. E. Pollard pitched last season for the Gloucester Independents. This team won the biggest part of its games, playing all of the semi-pros in lower Massachusetts and upper Connecticut, which is filled with crack teams. Pollard is another six footer.

With these pitchers and another, who names Manager O'Rourke does not care to mention at present, but which when it is given out will be a cause for alarm in the other camps of the league, will prove the best pitching staff that the Orators ever had, and will make up for the loss of "Red" Waller.

J. W. McAlor has had considerable experience behind the bat with New England league teams. Last season he was with the Taunton Independents, pitching very snappy ball. Al La Vigne, a resident of the metropolis, with considerable experience with Harlem semi-pros, comes on the recommendation of Manager O'Rourke, who himself is the regular catcher for the Hoboken team. O'Neill would use Vigne, but he himself, wants to get into the game.

Of the two men signed as catchers, R. W. Jameson comes from the Mount Pleasant Military Academy, of Orono, Me. He is a hard hitter. He has a good record. Most of his games were lost by one or two runs and generally were not due to his pitching, but to errors behind him. The manager considered the hard luck pitcher of the outfit, holding a team to a few hits in the first few innings and then taking a million bases from the pitcher. He was too late. NEW YORK MODISTES BADLY HAMPERED Seizure of Smuggled Finery Will Disappoint Many Who Expected New Easter Gowns.

(Special from United Press.)
New York, April 3.—Easter trade in the shops of several fashionable modistes was to-day sadly demoralized. Disclosures at the custom house within the past few days have led the authorities to believe that through the connivance of certain dressmakers having large and elite clientele, Paris creations and London confessions to the value of many thousands of dollars have recently been brought into this country without paying duty. While the authorities have caused no prosecution to be opened against the modistes, the goods came, are "absent on important business."

The customs officials incline to the suspicion that an organized coterie of dressmakers have worked in conjunction with swindlers to escape the sixty per cent. duty on modiste gowns from Paris. In the meantime the top officials are certain that unless someone appears to tell them of the whereabouts of the lot of goods received there will be considerable belated Easter one, two and three piece wearing apparel.

OXFORD WINS GREAT BOAT RACE TODAY

Beats Cambridge Over Historic Thames Course By 3½ Lengths.
One of the Most Exciting Races Ever Rowed Over Course.

Oxford Men Proved Their Superiority and Were Fresh at the Finish—Were Not Expected to Win by the Experts—Cambridge Was Favorite in Betting.

(Special from United Press.)
London, April 3.—Upsetting the predictions of the experts, the dark blue of Oxford finished 3½ lengths ahead of the light blue of Cambridge to-day in the annual race on the historical Thames from Putney to Gortlake, a distance of about 4½ miles. The race was one of the most exciting in the long history of these dual contests and was witnessed by tens of thousands.

Cambridge won the toss and chose the Surrey side of the river, giving her a slight advantage owing to wind and current conditions. This advantage was accepted with the fact that Cambridge had a fine crew and it was seen that it would be a hard tussle. The starting pistol was fired at 12:30 with the tide slack, water smooth, and but little wind. Stroke in the Cambridge boat immediately set up a fast clip and the light blue boat shot ahead.

On the way to Hammersmith Bridge the Oxford boat began to show its power and by the time the bridge was reached ¼ mile from the start, the two crews were on even terms. Oxford, at this stage, seemed to have reserve strength than the Cambridge rowers. The race for a half a mile here was the most desperate seen in years, neither boat apparently being able to gain an inch. The Cambridge boat, however, was able to tell on Cambridge and Oxford crept slowly ahead amid deafening cheers from the banks. After gaining half a mile lead Oxford lost her advantage by being hindered by one of the spectators barges. This threw the crews on even terms again, but Oxford, already aware of her superiority, fought desperately and at 3¼ miles had regained a lead of half a length. Cambridge was evidently on their blades and Barnes Bridge was reached which marked the last stretch of the race, the Oxford boat began to forge rapidly.

Oxford spurred unexpectedly immediately after passing Barnes Bridge and before Cambridge could recover from their backward slip, Oxford was on top. From then on there was nothing to the race but Oxford. With victory assured the big men in the Oxford shell bent their backs to their blades and sent the boat cutting through the water at a faster clip than at the close than at any other time in the race. The Oxford men in the boat was in the least distressed while several of the Cambridge oarsmen were clearly ragged out by the last stretch. The average weight of the Oxford crew was 174½ pounds; Cambridge 174½. Oxford's victory to-day made her third-fourth. Cambridge has won 29 times and one of the races was a dead-heat.

The crews were as follows: Oxford, A. C. Haddone, bow; H. E. Fisher, 2; C. R. M. Cudmore, 3; S. G. Barton, 4; D. MacKinnon, 5; A. J. Gillan, 6; A. G. Kerby, 7; R. C. Bourne, stroke; A. W. P. Dunlop, coxswain.
Cambridge, H. E. Swanton, 2; G. L. Thomas, 3; H. E. Kitchin, 4; R. G. Williams, 5; J. R. Fisher, 6; S. H. Hodge, 7; E. C. R. Stuart, stroke; G. D. Thompson, coxswain.

Cambridge was a strong favorite. The captain, James A. W. Strong, was one of the finest strokes in England. The trials had pleased the critics immensely and on one occasion about a month ago they did the full course in the splendid time of nineteen minutes, one second, or only eleven seconds more than the famous Harvard crew's record of 18 minutes 50 seconds. The record time for the race is 18:47. The loss of G. E. Fairbairn, Cambridge's bow oar, weakened the crew greatly.

Oxford was a fine crew but had been particularly unfortunate in training. The sickness ravaged the crew and successive candidates at bow broke the blade off.

MULLINS TOLD THEM HOW BUT DIDN'T TIE KNOT

All Because Assistant City Clerk Gill Played Guardian Angel.

Thus Auditor's Clerk Walters Got $3 Fee and Assistant Town Clerk Mullins a Look at the Bride and Groom.

Alexander Salsamany, aged 25, carpenter by trade, presented himself at the office of the town clerk yesterday afternoon, and asked for a license to marry pretty Elizabeth Petro, a native of the same country. Elizabeth is only 18 years of age and her parents are far away across the seas. Therefore Assistant Town Clerk Mullins sent the couple to the Mayor to get his consent to the marriage.

The groom, learned that he could be married by the Mayor, who is a justice of the peace. The Mayor gave his consent. But when the prospective bride and groom were descending the stairs to the town clerk's office they met Assistant City Clerk Gill. He asked Salsamany if he could be of any assistance to him. The happy man with the marriage license gulped something about being married. The assistant city clerk said, "Right in here," and escorted the couple into the office of the town clerk. Here the services of Henry Waters, auditor's clerk, were enlisted and he performed the ceremony. His fee was $3.

As he tucked the coin in his vest pocket Assistant Town Clerk Mullins saw the bride and groom go out the front door of the city hall. The future he will escort all youthful brides up to the Mayor's office on his own hook, for $3 fees look as good to him as to anyone else.

RUNAWAY COUPLE RELEASED ON BAIL

Dean Rankin and Mrs. A. W. Strong Released on Security of Former's Father.

Husband Who Caused Arrest of Girl and Boy, Did Not Appear in Court.

Rankin Was Under Age and Judge Foster Appointed Attorney James J. Marr to be Guardian—Is Believed that Cases Will Be Settled Out of Court.

Dean Rankin and Mrs. A. W. Strong were arraigned in the city court this morning charged with a serious offense. Rankin confessed to the age of 20 and his attorney, James A. Marr, was appointed his guardian by Judge Foster. Mrs. Strong said she was 23 years of age. Attorney Marr also appeared for her. Mrs. Strong's husband did not appear this morning and it is doubtful if he is seen again here. Attorney Marr was appointed guardian by Judge Foster overruled the demurrer. He bound the couple over to appear at the next session of the court and fixed the bond at $100 each. Friends in this city appeared, immediately after the court adjourned and put up the money for the couple. The girl was returned to her cell, but was afterwards bailed out through the efforts of Rankin and his father, who had a long conversation with the girl and will appear for her if there should be any further occasion for the services of an attorney. It is believed that the matter will be settled out of court and that Strong will never appear again against his youthful wife. The fact that the bond of both the accused was reduced from $500 to $100 indicates that the case against the couple is not very strong.

REAL ESTATE OPERATIONS OF A WEEK

Building for the Fiscal Year Ending March 31 Totalled $1,863,369.

Sales Smaller Than in Same Week of 1908, and Loans on Mortgage Smaller.

Handsome Residence Building for Horace S. Wilmot—Vincent Bros. Rebuilding Their Warehouse, Destroyed By Fire—Others Who Have Dwellings in Process of Construction.

The yearly report of the Building Commissioners shows that permits to erect buildings to an estimated value of $1,863,369 were issued during the fiscal year ending March 31. The new fiscal year was begun with an issue of permits aggregating $66,200. There were 17 sales of real estate during the week. In the same week of 1908 there were 22 sales. There were $8 sales during March, as against $6 in March, 1908, and $12 in March, 1907. The sales were loaned on mortgage $1,630, of which the two largest were a mortgage for $500 by J. W. Boyden et al. to People's Savings Bank for property on Fairview avenue and at Ogden street and Noble avenue, and a mortgage for $3,000 given by J. J. Rawley to F. T. Staples, property on Stillman street.

Building is largely confined to the erection of dwellings. Horace S. Wilmot of the White Mt. Co. is to have a handsome residence. The structure will be of frame with a stuccoed exterior. The rooms will be finished in hard woods, with hard wood floors, marble and plate glass windows. Rosa Malley is erecting a three-family house in Pembroke street. Each tenement will contain five rooms.

Vincent Bros. will immediately begin rebuilding their warehouse, which was destroyed by fire a few days since. Permits were issued as follows: John L. Parson, two-family frame dwelling, west side of Wilson street, between Fairfield avenue and Brewster street. John Piccolo, frame veranda, 47 Columbus place. Carl Wolf, frame barn, corner Alexander and Palisade streets. M. Fmsky, cellar wall under old building, 63 Edge avenue. W. B. Hinch, one-story frame dwelling, north side of Marian street. Rosa Malley, three-family frame dwelling, east side of Pembroke street.

Harvey Hbbell, Inc., reinforced concrete building, east side of State street, between Westview avenue and Mount Pleasant street. R. Capose, making four rooms in present building, 4384 North avenue. Bridgeport Land & Title Co., three story frame building and stores, south side of Warden avenue. Lillian L. Lamson, two-family frame dwelling, south side of Fairfield avenue. Warren H. Lamson, two-family frame dwelling, east side of Beechwood avenue. J. G. Smith, two story frame addition to one-story building, south side of Frenchtown road. Carl E. Strudahl, brick garage, east side of Norman street, between Wood avenue and Laurel avenue. Aggregate value $66,200.

POLICE KNOW PETROSINO'S SLAYERS Believed that Arrests Will Be Made in a Few Days.

New York, April 3.—The police department here received word from Palermo, Italy, to-day to the effect that the names of the slayers of Lieutenant Joseph Petrosino are known to the Italian authorities and their arrest is a matter of a few days. It is believed that the Italian police have set a trap for the slayers of the slain detective. The police have been informed of the presence here of some of the men connected with the crime. The police have renewed activity of the central office in its search. Numerous arrests have been made. Petrosino's body will arrive here next week. Elaborate preparations have been made to honor the memory of the late detective.

DRIVER HALSTED IS NOT GUILTY Co-respondent in Frecon Divorce Case is Said to Be Fairfield Man.

In the proceedings of the Frecon divorce case in the Superior Court, yesterday, one of the correspondents named was Jack Halstead. It happens that the only John Halsteads whose names appear in the city directory are John F. Halstead, driver of No. 2 engine and his father. Driver Halstead is not the man in the mix up. The real name of the co-respondent in the case is said to be Halstead, a student attending a boarding school in Fairfield.

ATTEMPT TO ROB FATHER OF DROWNED BOY

Body of Harold Moon, Supposed to Be Kidnapped, Found.

Was Drowned While Skating on Thread Lake.

But Father Received Letters From Supposed Kidnappers Demanding a Ransom—Arrests Expected in Case Soon.

Flint, Mich., April 3.—Harold Moon, ten years old, who has been missing from his home here since February 27th and who was believed to have been kidnapped, was found drowned to-day in Thread Lake. Rewards aggregating $1,800 had been offered for his return and he had been searched for all over the country. The boy was last seen on his way to the lake to skate.

Chicago, April 3.—Chief of Police Shippy to-day received the following telegram from C. C. McCall, sheriff at Flint, Mich.: "Body of Harold Moon found. Stop father from paying money to blackmailers at Delevan, Wis." Simultaneously with the finding of the boy's body, a letter was received from his father, W. T. Moon is in Chicago in response to a letter demanding ransom and claiming that the boy would be returned to him. "Mr. Moon," the bereaved mother said to-day, "got a letter telling him to go to Chicago and get a letter addressed to L. N. Lowell which would instruct him where to leave the money which he was told to bring for the safe return of the boy. My husband arrived safely in Chicago and said he would go at once to secure the letter. Since that time I have heard no word from him. He took the Chicago letter with him and do not know where he can be found."

"Mr. Moon told me he would consult with the Pinkerton detective agency in Chicago before putting out any more money," Mrs. Moon added. She did not know how much he took but the family is not wealthy.

The finding of the body proves that the letter to Mr. Moon was as cunning and cruel an attempt at robbery as ever came under the notice of the following authorities. As the boy was dragging Thread Lake and the river for several weeks and had almost given up when as a last resort wires were sent to the lake and the water allowed to run out to-day. The body was found about 100 feet from shore where the legs entangled in the grass and mud.

The boy's skates were fastened to his shoes, showing that he went through the ice while skating. An arrest in the case of Harold Moon who was found drowned at Flint, Mich., this morning, is expected here momentarily. It is believed that the father, W. T. Moon, father of the boy, Moon came in response to a letter from what purported to be the kidnappers of the boy.

The letter which brought Moon here was mailed in Delavan. It stated that the writer was in possession of the body of the boy and would place $500 in the mouth of the cannon in the town park the boy would be returned within half an hour. The letter was signed "Superintendent Charlesworth of the Pinkerton Detective Agency Mr. Moon went to the place. He did not deposit the money in the cannon. He stated that if the father would not substantiate their statement that they had the boy. If they could do so the letter stated they could have the $500 and Moon would make no trouble for them. At nightfall the detectives concealed themselves in the bushes. About 9:20 a man went stealthily up to the cannon, took out the letter and disappeared. The detectives followed him. Moon the detectives made no attempt to follow him, the father fearing that such an attempt would jeopardize the return of the boy. The father announced a good view of the man however, and announced that they know him.

To-day Mr. Moon received a telegram from Flint, Mich., stating that Harold Moon's body had been found drowned. Superintendent Charlesworth says arrests will be made this afternoon.

SEVENTEEN FIRMS BURNED OUT IN PHILADELPHIA

Fire Loss Reaches Half a Million Dollars.

Many Policemen and Firemen Have Narrow Escape From Serious Injury—Almost Entire Block Destroyed.

(Special from United Press.)
Philadelphia, April 3.—Fire today burned out seventeen firms in the block bounded by Front, Laurel and Haddon streets and Front street, causing a loss of $500,000. The fire spread with great rapidity and for some time the Kensington factory district was threatened.

A number of firemen and policemen had narrow escapes from death when the north wall of the Disten plant fell into the street. John Mueller, a fireman, was rescued after he had been hurled down an air shaft and buried in a pile of smoking ruins. Good work by the firemen prevented the fire from consuming adjoining buildings.
